

1. Intersection of Hwy 49 and N. Bloomfield Rd. This could be considered the starting point of the trail project

2. Another view of the intersection and a portion of the Cal Trans right-of-way where the proposed trail will traverse

3. Measuring for trail alignment. This is a private property where a trail easement has been donated for the trail project.

4. This picture is a good representation of the slopes on much of the property where this trail will be constructed.

5. This is a good representation of the brush that needs to be cleared to make room for the trail.

6. A section of the trail route where it has been cleared through light brush.

7. The location where the trail will meet up with the existing maintenance/emergency driveway.

8. A distance shot of the property where the trail will be constructed. Once at the top of the mountain, there are views of this downtown area.
